

Label It!

By Matthew Gollub © 2011

Labeling objects around the house is a great way to prepare your child to read. For added enrichment, you might also post labels in Spanish or another language in addition to English. Either enlarge and print the words below or copy them in your own writing with colorful markers. Then cut them apart and tape them in around the house (“mirror” right on the bathroom mirror, “door” right on a door, etc.), posting the labels at your child’s eye level. If labeling in two languages, help your child recognize the difference by using a different color or font for the second language.
